

Josab's share will be traded on the Mangold list

Following the deregistration from Spotlight Stock Market, last trading day March 15, 2022, Josab's share will be able to be traded on the Mangold List for a transitional period beginning March 16, 2022.

Private individuals and companies that want to place orders must continue to register their buy or sell order with their regular bank or stockbroker.

The company continues to work with re-listing on another list or marketplace, which is not legally possible before deregistration has taken place, and will return with more information about this as soon as possible.

Company information such as press releases, updates and financial reports will be announced as before on the company's website.
